

Media Information

Cambridge Broadband expands into Europe

Cambridge, UK, June 08, 2001 – Cambridge Broadband today announced the opening of its German office, headed by Rudiger Meisenburg, Regional Vice President of Sales. Based in Berlin, Meisenburg is responsible for extending Cambridge Broadband's successful sales operations to Germany, Austria, Switzerland and throughout Central and Eastern Europe.

Meisenburg brings considerable knowledge of the Industry with extensive experience in LAN products and Fixed Wireless Access technology. Before joining Cambridge Broadband he served as Vice President Business Development EMEA for Adaptive Broadband where he focused on the evolving market of Fixed Wireless Access.

"I am delighted to be joining Cambridge Broadband" says Meisenburg "Germany is the most advanced country in Europe as far as Fixed Wireless Access is concerned and with our new office Cambridge Broadband will be ideally placed to take advantage of the many opportunities that this region offers.

"There is a different but equally exciting opportunity in the former Eastern Bloc" Meisenburg continued "With the lack of high quality communications infrastructure operators are currently deciding which technologies and vendors to adopt and we are entering the market at exactly the right time. The superior functionality and performance of Cambridge Broadband products ensures that we have the opportunity to become the first choice for operators."

Cambridge Broadband's new presence in Germany coincides with the opening of a further regional office in France.

-Ends-

About CBL

Cambridge Broadband has an experienced team with a strong record of successful innovation in broadband wireless equipment. Founded in January 2000, the company is focussed on delivering high quality multi-service networks with the best price-performance in bands up to 11 GHz for license holders worldwide. For more details visit www.cambridgebroadband.com

For further information contact:

Helen Gorbutt
Companycare Communications
Tel: 0118 9395900
Fax: 0118 9599595
Email: heleng@companycare.com